To be more precise, for example, I need to check for integer overflow (bigger than MAX_INT) for subtraction/addition. Is it possible to do so? e.g. if(a + b == MAX_INT) .... A: No, this is not possible. The C language allows for a number of possible integer overflows, and because Java is based on C, it inherits these and other strange details. Generally speaking, you can assume that a Java app is going to

The poly(A)-binding protein (PABP) has been implicated in the regulation of mRNA translation by binding to poly(A). To study the topology and functional domain(s) of PABP, we have synthesized photoactivatable acrylamide-agarose-bound azido-derivatives of poly(A) and puromycin by using 4-(N-N'-dimethylamino)phenylazidophenyl)hydrazine hydrochloride as the acrylamide functional group and synthesized acrylamide-agarose-
